In the mean time a body of police and Republican Guards had driven off the turbulent prowds that had assembled in the vicinity of the shor Exchange, which is occupied by troops. At 11 o'clock there was a sangulnary encoun-ter in the Rue des Ecoles. The exact details are wanting, but it is known that the Republican Guards charged upon the rioters with drawn swords, and that the police opened fire with evolvers upon the mob. One man was killed on the spot by a cut from a sabre. Others were taken to neighboring drug stores, where their wounds were dressed.

Another mob upset and set fire to a tramcar on the Rue Monge. The car was burned to ashes by the time the firemen arrived on the It is believed that petroleum was used to destroy it.

An assistant brigadier of police was found drowned near the Grenelle bridge, and is sup-

The police stopped omnibus and tramway traffic on the Boulevards St. Michel and St. Germain at noon. Several of those arrested for taking part in the riots have been sentenced to terms of imprisonment varying from a week to two months.

The arrest of several convalescent patients who hissed the police from the windows of the Charits Hospital has called forth a letter of protest from Prof. Garmain Sec.

SITUATION EARLIES IN THE DAY.

The body of Nuger, the young man who was killed during the fighting between the police and the students in the Latin Quarter, was sent to the home of his parents in Lyons today. The authorities feared that the rioters uld take advantage of the shipment of the body to cause further trouble, and considerable secrecy was observed in transferring it from the Morgue to the Lyons railway station.

At an early hour this morning the coffin was placed in a hearse and taken to the station. the route followed being through unfrequented streets. The early risers who saw the hearse paid little attention to it beyond lifting their hats, in accordance with the custom of saluting the dead that prevails here. The students and their abettors in the rioting did not know of the transfer, and therefore no riotous demonstration occurred.

As the day wore on, the rioters, hundreds of whom have no connection with the students, gathered in the neighborhood of the markets nflicts occurred between the rioters on one

The affair has assumed such a serious aspeot that the authorities, who at first imagined that it was due entirely to the effervessense of the more mischlevous of the students. have determined to restore order at any cost. The disorderly element in all parts of the city took advantage of the demonstration of the students to create trouble, and now, as a matter of fact, they and not the students as body are responsible for the rioting. Today almost the whole of Paris is occupied by troops, who are under orders to repress disorder with a strong hand.

The Government has not yet carried out its threat to close the Labor Exchange. It was decided this morning to allow the building to remain open for a little while longer.

Another disgraceful scene was witnessed in the Chamber of Deputies to-dar, the occasion being the riots that have occurred in the city since Saturday last. Proposals were made that the Chamber should at once proceed to discuss the subject, but M. Dupuy, the Prime Minister, opposed such action. His opposition was selzed upon by the Extremists to make a demonstration. They howled and velled, and a general uproar followed. For a time nothing could be heard but eries and counter-cries, and the utmost disorder prevailed. When order was finally restored, the Chamber by a vote of 377 to 133, postponed consideration of the question until Monday.

At this hour, 5 P.M., quietness prevails in the district south of the Seine, where the trouble has been most pronounced. The prompt action to-day of the military and the knowledge that they have orders to use any amount of force to disperse rioters has had the effect of ving the mob. When night falls, however, further trouble may occur, but the authorities declare that they will put down disorde even if it becomes necessary to order the soldiers to fire volleys into the crowds.

TAKING OUT THE BODIES,

Volunteers Exploring the Yorkshire Mine Where the Explosion Ocentred LONDON, July 5 - The work of rescuing the living miners and of recovering the bodies of the dead is being pushed as rapidly as possible in Ingram's colliery. Thornhill. Yorkshire, the scene of yesterday's explosion that entombed the day shift of 145 men. Volunteers for the work of rescue are plentiful, and the miners are making their way into the furthermost workings of the pit as expeditiously as can be expected in view of the fact that they have to renove enormous quantities of debris from the move enormous quantities of débris from the galleries. Little progress was madelast night, as the inner workings were still full of gas, and the rescuing party could get only a short distance from the shaft. Thus far the bodies of thirty-elight miners, some of them terribly burned or crushed, have been sent to the surface. Other bodies can be seen in different parts of the mine, but they are pinned down with rooks and timbers, and t will require some time to remove them. The bodies of some of the men do not show a sign of how death was caused. These men escaped the effects of the explosion, but were killed by the choke-damp that filled the mine after the explosive gas had taken fire. The nir in the pit is comparatively good to-day, and this leads to the hope that some of the men may have reached places of safety and are still alive. It also allows the rescuers to work more steadily than they could have done in gas-impregnated air.

Late this afternoon the rescuers had brought eighty-eight bodies to the surface. Two men were brought up in an unconscious condition, but still breathing. Hopes are entertained that they will recover. Six men who had sustained no injury whatever, but who had been imprisoned behind a huge masso of debris, were dug out this evening. When they appeared at the mouth of the pit they were greefed in a most touching manner by their relatives and friends. No reason has been given for the explosion, but the conjecture is that it was caused by carelessness on the rart of one of the miners in opening his lamp.

Eight men and a boy have been rescued from the mine. All hope for the others in the pit has been abandoned. The bodies of the victims are being rapidly brought to the surface. galleries. Little progress was made last night,

SPANISH DYNAMITERS.

Their Activity Terrorizes the Citizens-Several Explosions.

SEVILLE, July 5. - This city was in a state of constant alarm all last night, and many of the prominent official residents dared not seek their beds, fearing that perhaps their residences would be blown up. The excitement was due to the fact that Anarchists or other lawless persons were at work in various parts of the city causing the explosion of petards. Notwithstanding the extraordinary vigilance of the police no arrests were made, and the people are in fear and trembling lost to-night shall bring forth a repetition of the outrages. In one part of the city a bottle containing dynamite exploded on a house step, smashing the door and deing other damage. Senor Logane, Fresident of the Provincial Council, was passing just as the explosion occurred. The broken glass flew past him with great violence, but fortunntely he essaped unhurt. Six bombs were found in the doorway of the house occupied by a merchant named Lasch. These hombs were sufficiently powerful to have blown the building to pieces. Explosions occurred in several other parts of the city, but no damage of moment was done. Extra guards are patrolling the streets, and a strict watch is being kept on the public buildings. lawless persons were at work in various parts

THE BERRING SEA CASE.

Mr. Phelps Says Pelagie Hunting Han Al-

Paris, July 5.- The Hon. E. J. Phelps of counsel for the United States to-day continued his closing address before the Behring Sea Tribunal of Arbitration. He argued that nations were entitled to employ force on the seas, even in time of peace, if it was necessary to protect their interest. Pelagic scaling, he said, had their interest. Pelagic scaling, he said, had almost exterminated the animals on which the scaling industry of the United States depended. There was no international law that debarred the United States from making the scizures necessary to protect the scaling industry. The right of protection extended to the open sea and even to the territory of a friendly nation under certain circumstances. As an instance in support of his contention on this point, Mr. Phelps mentioned the scizure by the British in American waters of a vessel that was preparing to take part in the Canadian rebellion. In the course of his remarks Mr. Phelps declared that the value of the scaling industry was the chief consideration in the purchase of Alaska by the United States. The country has little other present or prospective value. The pelagic scalers included many Americans who were getting their vessels registered as British or Canadian scalers. A limited number of these hunters consisted of persons of other vocations, who entered the scaling husiness as a speculation. Many persons in London were employed in the trade of dressing scalskins, and Great Britain should, therefore, endeavor to preserve the scal herds in order that these people might have employment.

Both Steamers Sunk in the Colliston

LONDON, July 5 .- The British steamers Elba and William Balls were in collision last night thirty miles off the Humber estuary, on the east coast of England. Both vessels were so badly damaged that they sank. All hands on them were either picked up by other vessels or reached land in their own boats.

The Elba, which was a vessel of 1.498 tons, was bound from Bombar for Hull. The William Isalis was 1.017 tons. She was last reported as having arrived at Hamburg from Sulina, and was probably bound for a port on the BERLIN, July 5.-King William, in his speech closing the Prussian Landtag, congratulated the members upon the numerous internal reforms they had achieved in the five years of their sitting, all of which had resulted in ben-efft to the people of Prussia. The period had also been marked by the absorption of the isl-and of Heligoland. Referring to the drought and the senreity of grain and fodder, the King said that measures would be taken to remedy the scarcity, while at the same time help would be extended to agriculturists.

He Says King George has Not Abdicated, LONDON, July 5 .- A report has reached this city from the United States to the effect that King George of Greece had abdicated and that a republic had been proclaimed. The Greek Consul-General here was seen to-day in relation to it. He said: "This is the first news I have received of the abdication of King George." He laughed incredulously when the details of the report were repeated to him, and declared that the story was preposterous.

there was significance in their making the trip together.

It was asserted last night by friends of both that Miss Marlowe and Mr. Tabor had gone abroad on a honeymoon trip. Statements were made by some of their fellow passengers, who returned to town for a few hours on account of the disablement of the Chester before she got outside of the harbor, that seemed to confirm the report.

It is known that the two were on very friendly terms. Yet it is said on good authority that Miss Marlowe's contract with her managers forbade her entering into the bonds of matrimony until the end of her engagement early next summer.

BROKE THE PEACEMAKER'S SKULL. Franz Ruppert Gets the Knife Thrust Meant

Charles Reitz, a dish washer in Sutter's boarding house at 231 East Ninety-third street, celebrated the Fourth in a rather bolserous fashion, and some of the boarders complained to Sutter yesterday that Reitz had made love in an objectionable manner to one of the women in the house. Sutter called the man to account last night, and Reitz demanded his pay.

"I'll kill you if you don't give it to me." he eried as he caught up a short, heavy butcher's knife.

Franz Ruppert, a boarder, jumped in to save Sutter, and was stabbed just behind the left ear. The cut was of little moment, but the blow broke his skull.

He was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital.
The doctors say his injuries are dangerous.
Reitz was locked up.

Unincky World's Fair Enterprises.

CHICAGO, July 5 .- Mandel Brothers have filed a bill in the Circuit Court asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of three hotel establishments. The hotels are the Pullman, the Inverness, and the liarvard. All three were established by Arthur V. Lee to accommodate guests visiting the World's Fair, but the bill sets out that business has failed to meet the proprietor's expectations.

Matthew J. Swatek, one of the stockholders in the World's Fair Captive Balloon Company, filed a bill in the Circuit Court to-day asking that a receiver for the company be appointed. Judge Collins appointed C. R. Mason to take charge of the company's affairs. The capital stock of the company is $50,000. divided into 1,000 shares, and the money, it is asserted, is being dissipated by reismanagement. Within ten minutes after the discovery of the crime fully twenty men were on the ground. Beside the first victim was found a man's cheap blue flannel coat. A workman said he had seen the coat on the back of a young white man, a tramp, who had come into that vicinity a day or two before. A colored woman said she had seen him early this morning, and had given him his breakfast; that he had on a blue coat similar to the one found.

The whole community is aroused. Farms, and even villages, are deserted, and the people engaged in the search. A number of suspects were arrested, and, though they give fair accounts of tnemselves, are held.

Late this evening a man answering the description of the tramp, wearing a navy blue vest, tut no coat, was seen in a cornileid near here. He was ordered to come out, but refused and fired a pistol at the hunters. They returned the lite, but the man disappeared in the corn. The fleid is now surrounded by pickets so closely that ar bbit could not get through unseen, and it is believed he will be captured before morning. If so, it is likely he will be lynched before he sees the inside of a prison.

AS THE WIDOW, SHE WANTS THE ESTATE But Her Manila Wrapping Paper Marriage

Certificate Looks Like a Forgery, DULUTH, July 5.-The application of Mrs. Lulu Pomery for the setting aside of a certain portion of the estate of the late Nehemiah Hulett came up to-day in the Probate Court for this county.

Hulett was an eccentric old man, who during his last years lived entirely alone but for his housekeeper, Mrs. Pomery. Some time after his death the woman made application that the house where he had lived be set side for her.

She produced a marriage contract executed on a piece of manila wrapping paper purporting to be signed by Hulett and herself, in which they set forth that, believing such a course proper, they declare themselves manand wife.

There is no question as to the relations which existed between Hulett and the woman, but the heirs claim that the alleged certificate is a forgery, and that she was only his mistress.
The testimony to-day tends to confirm that opinion. The amount involved in the case exceeds $500,000.

helr Plans Were Bold, but They Lenked Out-Other Arrests Probable-Mr. Blount Mas Not Sent Any Report to Washing-ton, but Will Bring It Home with Him. HONOLULU, June 28, via San Francisco, July .- The Government has finally executed what has been for some time in view, namely, the arrest of ascertained agents in the Royalist dynamite conspiracy. On the afternoon of Friday, June 23, simultaneous arrests were made of T. B. Walker, Archibald Sinclair, and E. C. Crick, on the charge of conspiracy to seize the Executive building and overturn the pending examination. The Government has known something of this conspiracy for three months, and for several weeks it has possessed much exact information. A very conservative policy has been pursued, and no arrests were made until the widence was entirely complete against the accused. Sinclair is a mason, but of irregular habits. Crick is a chemist out of employment. About twenty prominent whites and half castes are more or less implicated by the evidence in possession of the Government. Nine of these persons have been Cabinet Ministers. More arrests are likely to be made at any time, but none without ample evidence to justify such action.

The use of dynamite was the chief means of nction.

The use of dynamite was the chief means of the scheme of the conspirators. Their plans seem to have been bold and extensive, but more on an anarchistic basis than one of regular warfare. Nearly all persons implicated have more or less shady records. Ne pure Hawalians appear to have been in the affair. It is believed that no evid-nce implicates Paul Neumann or Claus Spreckels, although the conspirators had sanguine hopes of pecuniary aid from the latter.

At the time of the arrests the houses of Walker and Cummings were searched. No discoveries of arms or of dynamite were made. Much consternation followed the arrests, resulting in additional information being contributed by persons implicated. A general effect of demoralization has been produced among the loyalists, whose chief plot for the restoration of the Queen has now collapsed. At noon on June 28, just before the sailing of the Belgic, evidence against the conspirators began to be presented.

Minister Blount says that he has not yet sent forward any report, but will take it with him when he leaves the islands.

Claus Spreckels found on his gate a few days ago a placard ornamented with skull and cross bones and bearing the inscription:

"Gold and silver will not ston lead." He laid the matter before Minister Blount, and the latter forwarded Spreckels's statement to the provisional Government. The Government says it has evidence against the men it has arrested showing they were forming a plot to blow up the Government building and then shoot down the annexationists when they should rush to the seene. A large number of other persons are being watched by the authorities.

They are armed with rilles, and have selected certain prominent supporters of the ex-Queen, whose names are known, and marked them for slaughter in event of a royalist outbreak. A member of this organization gives a list of names marked for assassination, and says that in addition to prominent Hawaiians, it includes Claus Spre kels and Minister Blount in case they interfere in any fight that may occur.

THE COUNT" DIES BY MORPHINE. A Prussian of Noble Birth Drank Hard and Breame Despondent.

St. Joseph, Mo., July 5 .- Victor Lungfeldt, a Prussian of noble birth, killed himself at the Paelie House last night by taking morphine. He had been drinking hard for several days. Despondency, iil heath, and financial distress caused the act. He has lived here twenty years, and was known as "the count."

Major Pettigrew's Suspension

It was headquarters night at the Forty-seventh regiment's armory, in Marcy avenue Williamsburgh, last night, and all the Captains and Lieutenants, besides the staff of Col. John G. Eddy, were present. The meeting was secret. It was learned, however, that the camp, was discussed. However, that the suspension of Major William P. Pettigrew by Col. Eddy, about ten days ago, at the State camp, was discussed. Col. Eddy, it was said, defended his action, and told the officers he was acting under orders from Assistant Adjt.-Con. Phisterer when he suspended Major Pettigrew for incompatency. tigrow for incompatency.

In addition to the resignation of Quartermister Andrew R. Baird, Capt. J. D. Liddell of Company A has resigned. The latter, it is said, left the regiment for business reasons.

Did She Throw Mattresses Into the Ray! It was reported at Quarantine yesterday just before the arrival of the Thingvalia line steamship Hekla that W. C. Stewart, a passenger on one of the Sandy Hook steamboats, had seen one of the Sandy Hook steamboats, had seen seamen on the Hekla throwing mattresses overboard inside the Hook. This is prohibited. The Hekla was detained at Quarantine by Health Officer Jenkins's deputy until communication could be had with the Doctor, who was attending a meeting of the Quarantine Commissioners in this city. Capt. Laub of the Hekla declared that no mattresses were thrown overboard inside Sandy Hook. Dr. Jenkins roleased the Hekla at ti's o'clock last evening. He will make a further investigation, and if the charges are sustained Capt. Laub will be prosecuted.

Took a Header Over a Baby Carriage. Lawrence Fredericks, 21 years old, of 168 West 133d street, coasted down the steep hill in Sedgewick avenue, Highbridge, on a bicy cle on the afternoon of the Fourth. Half way down the hill he bumped into a baby's car riage. The father of the child clung to the riage. The lather of the child clung to the carriage and kept it upright. Fredericks took a header and landed on all-fours on the other side of the carriage. He cut and scratched his hands and face, and was locked up in the Highbridge police station on a charge of reckless riding.

Mr. Horr reported in the Morrisania court yesterday that the baby had not been injured, and as the bleyclist was, he did not want to make any complaint. Justice Simms discharged Fredericks.

The Atlanta Back from Nicaragua, WASHINGTON, July 5.- The cruiser Atlanta has arrived at Hampton Roads from Niearagua, where she was ordered about the middle agua, where she was ordered about the middle of May, when the revolution in that country was at its height. She will go to the Korfolk Navy Yard, where she will be theroughly overhauled and prepared for a foreign cruise. It was the intention of the Navy Department to have her take the New York Naval Reserve on their annual practice cruise, but as it will take some time to repair her this plan had to be abandoned.

THE CITY TAKES ALL THEIR MILK. Countles In New York that Make Butter and Cheese No Morr. Orroo N. V. July 2 - The enormous increase in New York city's demand for milk has made radical change in the dairying industry of Otsego, Delaware, Chenango, Schoharle, Cortland, Broome, Tloga, Tompkins, and several other central New York counties within two or three years. Five years ago only one car of milk a day was shipped to New York from the sections mentioned above, while at present between twenty-five and thirty car loads are sent to the metropolis every day. The milk speculators have established milk stations at every railroad depot on all the main lines and branches, and at necessary points they have built icehouses and stocked them with pure Empire State ice.

A cunning and an oily-tongued chap is the speculator or his agent, who goes among the dairy farmers for the purpose of inducing them to abandon the manufacture of butter and cheese, and to sell their yearly product of milk to him at a certain price per quart. If the farmer refuses to enter into a contract, or if he hesitates in the least, the suave agent talks plea-antly and agreeably to the dairyman's wife and daughters. He shows them what a saving of labor it will be to the entire household if they will get the boss to sell his milk. He tells then that they won't have to churn or work or pack butter to skim milk or wash churns, butter bowls, ladies, palls, and pans any more, and he invariably convinces them that he is right. When the argumentative agent has got the women folks on his side it is an easy matter for him to get the larmer to sign a yearly contract. As another inducement the contractor agrees to pay the dairyman spot cash once a month.

The farmers for two or three miles around draw their milk to the station twice a day. The quantity is credited to them, and the animal heat is taken from the milk as accon as possible. When the farmer and his hired men are uncommonly busy in the hay and barvest season, one of the women drives to the station cheese, and to sell their yearly product of milk

The quantity is credited to them, and the animal heat is taken from the milk as soon as possible. When the farmer and his hired men are uncommonly busy in the hay and harvest season, one of the women drives to the station with the milk, which is generally carried in foirty-quart cans. The cans and pails are the only implements the women have to wash. At present the farmers are getting 1's cents a quart for their milk. By September they will receive 2 cents a quart later in the fall 2's cents, and when cold weather sets in 3 cents a quart—the highest price they receive during the year.

The milk of all this section to within fifty miles of Albany is shipped to binghamton over the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company's Albany and Susquehanna Italiroad, and from there to New York over the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western. Albany is the natural outlet for much of the milk-producing region of Schoharie, Delaware, and Otsego counties, but the speculators have seen fit to work into the district from the linghamton end.

In the region drained of its milk to satisfy the craving of the great metropolis, you can't hear a calf bawl or a hog squeal nowadny. The farmers have no sour milk to feed, so they year round. The absence of caives and pigs is notireable to the lover of rural sights and sounds, who will also remark the disappearance of long rows of bright, clean milk pans near the farmhouses. The occupation of an interesting and picturesque old man, who used to trudge about the dairying district soldering leaky milk pans, is gone, for there are no pans that need mending any more. The milk sellesis have to buy their pork and young cowa, but they say that, on the whole, their revenue at the end of the year is just about equal to what it was when they made butter and cheese, and raised caives and pigs.

A New British Record with the Hammer. The results of the Irish athletic championship received by yesterday's mail are not quite up to their usual high standard. The falling off is accounted for to a great extent by the fact that a violent rainstorm set in as the bell rang for the first event.

Despite this depressing visitation, the form in the field events was surprisingly good. D. Carey of the
